

One More Round?

Just when you think it is all over, life gives you another chance! Some colleagues at other universities have been in touch with us to say they think we should gather data from your children as they are entering the adult world, meaning at 18 or 19 years of age. They believe there would be value in being able to connect the dots between what we know about your children's development so far, with how they are doing as they leave high school.

The purpose of this communication is to ask how many of you would be willing to come visit us one more time, most likely in the summers between 2021 and 2023. Please contact us as soon as possible to indicate your level of interest, from ABSOLUTELY, COUNT US IN to PROBABLY to FORGET ABOUT IT.

You can email us at edchl@phhp.ufl.edu. As always, thank you for all you have done!
